

Authors' Challenge

Young people all around the world are coming of age in this era of the existential perils of climate crisis, social, and political upheaval. They are inheriting huge challenges.

These videos could spark an interest in potential career choices. Even if different career paths are chosen, many more people of all ages and stages of life are critically needed to contribute in some way to create healthier, more durable communities, especially for youth.

A healthy community is where everyone acts to take care of each other. Some can play an active part in a Circle of Support for a young person by volunteering, mentoring, or by providing a job shadowing, internship, or employment opportunity. Others may contribute financially, invest in worthy initiatives, start a support group, host a potluck, have a block party...

We stand at the crossroads of participation and observation. To be active citizens in a healthy democracy or passive consumers.

Conditions can never improve for anyone until he or she demands the proper outcome. Success in these efforts is certain as citizens act - casting out all doubt and fear.
